The Dandelion, synonymous with making a wish, symbolises the beginning of my journey as an artist. The "in-between" refers to the time between making a wish and realising its fulfilment.

This body of work represents the materialisation of my dream into reality and the reminder that it takes action to make a wish come true.

Meet Ben Williams, West Australian Fine Art Photographer, who draws inspiration from the colours and shapes of land, sea & sky.

Bens new body of work "in-between" explores the feeling of being lost or found in a moment, represented by the nexus of time and light as the sun meets the horizon.
